

$20K in Energy Efficiency Incentives Presented to Crow Canyon Medical Center
